NO WAR WITH TURKEY

Our Gunboats Not Going There For That Purpose.

IN NO DREIBUND.

European Powers Must Stand Alone in This Affair-Still, the United States Will Be Well Represented If There is Going to Be Any Serious Trouble in Turkey. Latest on the Subject.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The eablegram from London stating that there was a strong pessibility that American warships might eo-operate with tho British fleet in elther a demonstration in the Mediterranean or actually forcing the Dardanelles was read with interest, but without credence by the officials of beth the navy and the state depart-

At the navy department the officials state that there is absolutely no intention of joining Great Britain in any movement against Turkey, such as indicated in the dispatch. It should be remembered at all times that the United States was not a party to the European concert, following upon the famous treaty of Berlin, of Beaconsfield and Bismarck. Indeed, this country efficially declined repeated and urgent invitations from the European powers to join in signing the treaty, whose principal purpose, it was elaimed, was the protection of the Armenians in Turkey.

It is true that the navy department has ordered the Baneroft to the Dardanelles and orders have been issued to the Cincinnati, new at Tomkinsville, to sail on Saturday for Gibraltar. But neither of these orders are intended to have any bearing en a pessible eo-operation of the United States with Great upon the semi-efficial statement issued Britain in any demenstration before Constantinople.

The arrival of the Cincinnati in the Mediterranean will give Admiral Selfridge quite a formidable fleet, all within easy reach.

It is believed that the only reason why the Bancroft has been ordered to Constantineple is because Minister Terrell, foreseeing the constant tumults and riots occurring in Turkey, is anxious that the American residents, in ease it becomes necessary for them to seek protection, shall have an American ship on which to take refuge, or that even if so grave a crisis did net arise that the American flag may at least be seen by anxious Americans. Incidentally, it is believed that Minister Terrell himself feresees the possibility that he may be compelled to leave the American embassy semewhat hurriedly some day, and that he would very naturally prefer taking refuge under the Ameri-ean flag to asking the courtesy of any

British admiral. At the state department the only answer to the cablegram is the stereetyped reference to the farewell address of President Washington, warning his country against entangling alliances. All suggestions from abroad for the formation of an international dreibund of Great Britain, Italy and the United States are received at the state department with a smile, and the secret of the anxiety of the British newspapers for co-operation in this attack on Turkey by the United States is believed to be in the statement of Sir Churles Dilke that Great Britain alone is not strong enough to wage war upon Turkey, an action which, in his opinion, would bring about a general war in Europe, a situation for which Great Britain is not yet

Great Britain has at the present time at the gates of the Dardanclles, ready to force a passage to the Golden Horn, a fleet of modern warships that ought to prove invincible. It includes 10 battleships and four cruisers. Among the battleships are the Ramllies, the Bar-fleur and the Hood, of 14 guns each, while the remaining seven battleships all carry 10 guns each. Of the four cruisers, one, the Hawke, earries 12 guns, while the remaining three cruisers earry 10 guns each, so that the British fleet carries 154 guns of heavy cali-

UNDERSTANDING EXISTS.

Our War Vessels Will Enter the Bosports After the British Invasion. LONDON, Sept. 18.—St. James' Ga zette publishes a special dispatch from Washington in which it is asserted that President Cleveland is determined that the United States cruiser Bancreft, new on her way to Turkish waters, shall enter the Bosporus.

The government at Washington, the dispatch says, is fully infermed of the plans of Lord Salisbury, and if the ships of the British fleet force the Straits of Dardanelles the American ships will follow and preserve order, without engaging the Turkish forts.

Several of the leading provincial papers, including the Leeds Mercury (Liberal) and the Yorkshire Pest (Conservative), concur in the view that the jeint action of the British and American warships at Constantineple weuld be a magnificent and effective co-opera-

Plot Discovered.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 18.—The police announce that they have made un important discevery of bombs and ether explosives and incriminating documents in an Armenian house in the Faubourg Seutari. Two of the leaders and many of the members of the Armenian com-mittee have been arrested in connection with the discovery and have confessed their guilt. They have also denounced many of their accomplices to the police. The pelice have a hope of being soon able to mearth the whole plet.

Want Concerted Action.

London, Sept. 18.—An editerial in the Daily News (Liberal), commenting by the government with regard to its pelicy in Turkey, says: "It will be a bitter disappointment for everybody, but the country must persevere. The true business of the government is not to ferce the dardanelles, but to force a ceneert of the powers to its own right-cous and henorable ends."

Trouble Begins in the Palace.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Censtantinople dispatch to the Merning Post says: The grand visier, Halil Rifat Pasha, threatens to resign unless the minister of pelice is dismissed en account of the recent massacres. The sultan upholds the police minister and re-fuses to accept the resignation of the grand visier.

He dug long enough to turn up a few rlbs and a thigh bone and then called on the police for help. Yesterday afternoon several other bones old a skull, supposed from its size to be that of a woman, were found. The investigation was stopped by darkness, but will be resumed.

The spot is only a few yards from the house in which H. H. Helmes lived in Wilmette, and it is thought by the peliee that the bones may be those of some of his victims. The bones had evidently been interred within two years and were apparently placed in the grave without a coffln and no clothing of any sort was found. From the sizes of the boues it is thought they must be from several people.

REPUBLICANS are harping against free coinage of silver when their own platform declares in favor of it. They want us to get the consent, however, of other nations first. If free coinage is such an awinh thing, will the consent of other nations make it good?

WHAT HENRY CLAY ONCE SAID.

The free coinage of silver and a large volume of money will revive farming, manufactures and business by increasing the purchasing demand for goods and products of iabor in the following ways:

1. An increase in the volume of money will cause a rise in the price of goods and products of labor.

2. A rise in the price of goods, products of the farm, and all products of labor will good?" increase the purchasing power of the laborers, also their debt paying power, and of the value of their homes, stock in trade, etc.

3. This increase in the purchasing mand at higher prices, debts can be paid, more goods consumed, and thus more labor employed and business done.

February 12th, 1891.—The following is a verbatim extract from the address of William McKinley, Jr., at the Lincoln day banquet, in Memorial Hall, Toledo, Ohio:

' During all of Grover Cleveland's years at the head of the government he was dishonoring one of our precious metals, one of our own great products, discrediting silver and enhancing the price of gold. He endeavored even before his inaugnration to office, to stop the coinage of silver dollars, and afterward, and to the end of his administration, persistently used his power to that end. Yours truly,

John Eoan. For several weeks past Mr. Egan has enjoyed a great turn through the singlestandard press North, East, South and West. Mr. Egan was pictured a Croesus in wealth, a gold bug lion roaring up and down the earth seeking the wallets of any "free silver fool" he might meet, and finding nothing because the hapless bimetallists had all climbed a tree. In short, Egan was Johnny-on-the-spot, and would come down with the cash whenever and wherever a weak-minded silverite came up with the chink. Now, mark the latter end of this gold-bugger.

A few days ago Mr. John H. Pedigo. the well-known Southern trader, stopped off in Indianapolis. Having transacted his business, he concluded to have some fun with Capitalist Egan, if such an individual could be found. HON. JAS. BARBOUR.

One of Maysville's Most Highly Honored Citizens Dies Suddenly at Clifton Springs.

Had Held Many Positions of Trust in Church and State-Sketch of the Deceased.

Telegrams were received this morning at 5 o'clock announcing the death of Hon, James Barbour at Clifton Springs, N. Y., of disease of the brain.

No further particulars were given. He had been in failing health for some months, but the tone of his last letter to his son, Mr. J. F. Barbour, was more cheerful than usual. The final summons must have come suddenly to this beloved citizen.

James Barbour, banker and lawyer, was a son of James and Letitia Barbour and was born May 27, 1820, in Danville, Ky. His father was a native of Orange County, Va., and belonged to an old English family long distinguished in the atlairs of the Old Dominion. His grandfather was Ambrose Barbour, a soldier of the revolution. Mr. Barbour's mother was born in Lincoln County, this State, and was a daughter of Willis Green, the first Clerk of the United States Courts for Kentucky.

Mr. Barbour graduated at the age of seventeen from Centre College, and three years later he graduated from Transylvania Law University. In 1840, he began the practice of law at Danville, where he remained until 1852 when he removed to Maysville, and became cashier of the Maysville Branch oi the Bank of Kentucky. He continued in this position until 1871 when the branch was withdrawn. In that year, in connection with the late Andrew M. January and others, he established the Bank of Maysville and was its cashier until 1877, when, on Mr. January's death, he was chosen President, a position he held the rest of his life.

A man of marked ability and the strictest integrity, Mr. Barbour had been honored time and again by his fellowmen in business, educational and religious circles. In 1844 he was appointed by the Trustees of Centre College, to settle the affairs of the land grant made by Congress to the Kentucky Deaf and Dumb Asylum; in 1849 he was prominently identified with the Lexington and Danville railroad movement; in 1850, he was appointed State Auditor by Governor Helm; in the same year he was elected Professor of Languages and Belles Lettres in Centre College, but declined the position; he was elected a Trustee of Centre College in 1845, and of Danville Theological Seminary in 1853. He actively participated in the organization of the Maysville and Lexington railroad, and has been a conspicuous and sagacious adviser of this community in every important enterprise in which it has been engaged.

With extraordinary talents for practical affairs, Mr. Barbour united tastes and accomplishments that made him a distinguished figure in the best society at home and abroad. His manners were dignified and engaging and assisted in the impression which his rare conversational gifts left upon every circle in which he moved. He represented the old and conservative school in business, politics and social life, containing, in an admirable manner, the most practical sagacity, the strictest integrity, the soundest patriotism, the highest public spirit, and the finest personal courtesy, with an elevation of moral tone and a thoroughness of mental culture that made him a model for the generation in which he lived and will render his memory an inspiration to the generations which are to come.!

Deceased became a member of the Presbyterian Church at the age of thirteen, had been an Elder of the First Presbyterian Church for years, had represented Ebenezer Presbytery in several General Assemblies, and a few years ago was a Commissioner from the General Assembly of the United States to the Pan Presbyterian Council that met in London.

Mr. Barbour leaves two children, Mr. Hamilton; Eleventh, W. E. Cabell.

J. F. Barbour, Cashler of the Bank of Maysville, and Rev. John Barbour, cf Birmingham, Ala. His beloved wife died eight weeks ago. She was Elizabeth Graham Foster, daughter of Colonel James Foster, of Natchez, Miss.

The remains will arrive here to-morrow afternoon, and the funeral will occur Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church, with services by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Hays.

Deceased had been an Oddfellow over fifty years, was a member of Ringgold Lodge No. 27, and the funeral services will be under the auspices of that lodge.

The remains will be taken to Danville Monday morning and laid to rest by the side of her who was his loved and faithful companion through life and from whom he was not long separated in death.

The Prubability of Damage by Chinch Bugs This Fall and Prospects of Their Reappearance Next Year.

Frankeort, September 16, 1896.—Owing to the continued presence in great numbers of the "chinch bug," and the apprehension of damage by them to growing wheat in the fall and the probability of their appearance again next year, the Bureau of Agriculture desires to submit the following information as to the nature and habits of this pest, Professor Garman, Entomologist of the Kentucky Agricultural Experimental Station, says of the "chinch bug:"

"From Its history it seems improbable that any very serious injury will be done to fall wheat, but the presence of the bugs in the fields this fall makes probable injury for the next season. So much depends on the weather between now and then, however, and it is musafe to predict any thing. If we have a damp fall and winter many of the bugs will succumb to disease; if it is dry during the fall and winter the probability is that the bugs will be destructive next year. The adult chinch bugs libernate under rubbish at the edge of the fields, and farmers should see to it that no such lurking places are left for them. An unsparing employment of lire over waste places will do much to destroy them."

This information is furnished with the hope that it will receive the attention its importance demands. It may be well to remember that this State only escaped serious injury from this source this year by reason of the abundant rainfall at critcal periods. LUCAS MOORE,

[Enquirer.]

J. P. Jackson, Vice President of the De Camp-Levoy Company, on Main street, who has heretofore been a stanch Republican, has come out openly for Bryan and but when I went to hear 'Coin' Harvey at the Grand Opera House I became thoroughly converted to the doctrine of the iree coinage of silver, and I wonder why I did not understand the question thoroughly before. It is as plain now to me as a pikestaff why this country cannot do business successfully on a single gold standard, and even if Mr. McKinley is elected the Republican party will be compelled to adopt the bimetallic system before the close of his term, on nccount of the effect the single standard is having on business. I am determined to vote for Bryan if I am the only man left in the party to east a vote. From this lican party, and intend to vote for my own interests, instead of for the interests

Mr. Allen Was Not in It.

Congressman John Allen, of Mississippi tells a good joke on himself. He accompanied Mr. Bryan to Maysville Tuesday night, and it was arranged that he should escort several ladies in the party from the special car to the place of speaking.

"I put the ladies in a carriage," said Mr. Allen to a Courier-Journal reporter, "and got in myself, and we were driven to the place where Mr. Bryan was to speak. When we got there I alighted from the carriage and helped the ladies out. A big, burly policeman was standing near and he absolutely refused to let me go upon the platform. He allowed Mr. J. P. Tarvin to go up with the ladies, but when I started to pass on he stopped me let me go on the stand at all, and although I tried to argue with him it was of no use. In fact he would not even arrest

DEATH OF REV. DR. YOUNG.

The President of Center College Summaned Suddenly to His Reward.

DANVILLE, KY., September 16th.—Rev. Wm. Clark Young, D.D., President of Center College, died suddenly this morning about 10 o'clock in one of the recitation rooms at the institution just after having made his annual opening address to the students. He had been in ill health for some time.

He was fifty-four years of age, and was a son of Dr. John C. Young, for many years President of the college. His mother was Cornelia Crittenden, a daughter of Senator John J. Crittenden. Dr. Young, before becoming President of Center College in 1889, had been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Madison, Ind., of the Fullerton Avenue Church, of Chicago, Ill., and of the Central I'resbyterian Church, of Louisville. He was Moderator of the I'resbyterian General Assembly when it met at Portland, Ore., and has always held a commanding position in the councils of that church. He leaves no family.

The funeral will be held in Danville Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

FIRE IN A ST. LOUIS HOTEL

The Lindell Damaged to the Extent of $8,000, but No One Was Injured.

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—For half an hour last night the Lindell hotel, one of the leading hostelries of this city, was in serious danger of destruction by fire. Fortunately the fire broke out near the roof and before any great number of the guests had retired, so that a panle among them was averted. The fire started from some unknown cause, and was confined to the top story. The principal damage was from water, and it is estimated that from $5,000 to $8,000 will cover the loss. It was fully in-

The fire was discovered by the night watchman at 10:45 o'clock. It was burning in the eeiling over the elevator shaft. An alarm was at once turned in ical llls which vanish before proper efand employes of the hotel were sent to all the rooms to arouse any of the guests who might be asleep. A good deal of excitement followed as the guests beat a hasty retreat.
